UM SUMMER SESSION '71 OFFERS FAMILY CAMPING AND OUTDOOR WORKSHOP

MISSOULA--

Two family camping and outdoor workshops offered by the University of Montana, July 11-16 and July 25-30, during the 1971 Summer Session have been closed to further registration, according to Dr. Walter C. Schwank, director of the UM Summer Session. More than 40 families are on the waiting list.

The outdoor programs, which are open to the public, are under the direction of the UM Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. The programs include a variety of activities--outdoor cookery, horseback riding, fly fishing, crafts, survival, Indian lore, beadwork and dances, and safety procedures.

A total of three academic credits are available for adults participating in the workshop. Each participating family must have at least one member registered for the course.

This is the 10th year the family camping and outdoor recreation workshop has been offered by UM. Last year 159 people from 14 states and Canada participated in the workshops, according to Dr. Schwank.

Other recreational courses offered during the 1971 Summer Session include Outdoor Recreation, River Floating, and Camping Techniques, and Backpacking and Wilderness Survival, each for two credits.
